The year 2019-20 has been a rather eventful year for us. We had many achievements and made progress on several fronts. The annual report covers these in detail. I wanted to focus a bit more on the role that CAF India is playing during current pandemic.

The COVID -19 pandemic has created an unprecedented crisis for all of us. We are all living amidst extreme uncertainty which effects the country’s marginalised and vulnerable populations the most. It is indeed heartening to see how NGOs and organisations like CAF India have risen to the occasion in helping these communities during these trying times.

As soon as the pandemic broke out in India, and the country went into a nationwide lockdown, we re-prioritized our activities. While we continued to work on our long-term mission we identified areas where CAF India could make an impact. We raised an appeal to mobilise resources for the vulnerable groups impacted. Our teams have been deeply engaged in coordinating with our partners to reach out to migrant workers, essential service providers and frontline workers. While we have been overwhelmed by the support we have received from our patrons - both existing partners and new donors, we realise that the job carved out for us in the years to come is enormous.

There will be several societal changes that will be permanent in nature. The economy will have to be rebuilt. New means of livelihoods will have to be created for migrants, who have gone back to their villages. Poor families, who have lost their loved ones to the crisis will need to be supported. Natural calamities, will further exacerbate the situation. While we continue to pursue our earlier initiatives our developmental interventions will have to be fine-tuned around the impact COVID-19. We realize our increased responsibilities and the role of CAF India will become even more meaningful in the times to come.

We are proud to see that the Government of India has acknowledged the work done by CAF India and several other organisations during the crisis. The task is large and our association with NITI Aayog, will help join with others to scale our efforts to help mitigate the pandemic.

On behalf of the Board of Trustees I would like to thank the team at CAF India for working so tirelessly and thank CAF Global Alliance for supporting us through the crisis. Our affiliation with them has helped us stay in tune with the global trends and best governance practices. This helps us in building trust with both our donors and NGO partners.

Finally, I would like to thank our donors and partner NGOs, who have supported us in implementing meaningful development programs across India. We, at CAF India are committed to transforming lives and communities, and we will continue to do so, with your unwavering support.

As we step into 2020, we stand only a decade from the 2030 targets for the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs). Immense progress has been made towards the achievement of the SDGs in India, but much work remains. This is a time for reflection, both on our accomplishments and also on the way forward for continued, swift and sustainable transformation of lives and communities.

The year 2020 is also bringing with it a time of immense uncertainty and challenges. COVID-19 and its aftermath have put the world at risk of reversing all that has been achieved. With our decade long history of humanitarian response and disaster relief work, we have quickly mobilised and channelised resources and partnerships to respond to the crisis. CAF India has been at the forefront of working with civil society, government, frontline workers, migrant workers and deprived communities across India to respond to the immediate consequences of the pandemic while also sustaining a long-term vision of reviving communities whose lives and livelihoods have been severely disrupted.

The last year has been one of growing contribution to the pivotal Ps of the SDGs – People, Planet, Prosperity and Peace, made possible through partnerships we developed between donors, civil society, policy makers and communities. Our programmes have been strategically enabled our donors to use their grants to drive transformative change. From reducing infant and maternal mortality, to empowering Dalit woman farmers to become economically self-sufficient, to facilitating communities in judicious water use and conservation – our programmatic interventions have transformed lives across wide range of themes.

Our relationship with the government has only strengthened with time. We have been working very closely with the government, especially the NITI Aayog, to participate in the formulation of important policies and programmes. In the time to come we will play a more definitive role in India’s development story.

Chairperson’s Message

CHAIRPERSON’S MESSAGE

FROM THE CHIEF EXECUTIVE’S DESK

We thank you for being part of our story of accelerating the achievement of India’s developmental targets.

Meenakshi Batra
CEO,
CAF India

We have continued to augment the use of technology for grant management, with the launch of an enhanced version of our online giving platform for managing payroll giving by employees. In 2020, we will be launching our program information management platform to enhance real-time monitoring and transparency in programme activities.

In addition to quality programme design and management, it remains essential to have a strong civil society to achieve the immense challenges facing us. Towards this end, our contribution to strengthening civil society through capacity building and organisational development activities, is aimed at multiplying manifold the impact civil society can create. At the same time, a robust civil society requires an effective culture of giving and volunteering, which we stimulated through our innovative and agile campaigns such as those to provide rapid response to the floods across India.

STORY OF HOPE: Trichy Farmers Become Food Secure

The small dry land farmers in the Manikandam, Manaparai, and Manungapuri blocks in Trichy district of Tamil Nadu have been suffering from reduced water availability and crop yield. CAF India supported a programme to augment the diet and nutritional diversity among the families in these areas. 2,400 farmers across 40 villages were trained in modern techniques of farming and allied practices such as low water farming, water and soil conservation, preparation of chemical free pesticides and manure, and livestock management. They were made aware of and connected to government schemes and subsidies enabling them to avail benefits on procurement of seeds, equipment for making organic manure, drip-irrigation equipment etc. This holistic programme not only focused on improving agriculture techniques to increase yield but also on growing crops that are high in nutrition. The programme was also inclusive of women, adolescent girls and children. Over 400 young mothers and women built their knowledge around personal health and preparation of nutrition rich food from locally available traditional food items.

STORY OF HOPE: How Bengaluru got its Freshwater Streams Back

CAF India is supporting the development of a dedicated town-level wastewater treatment plant in Devanahalli township of Bangalore. This is leading us drive the organisation’s long term goal of replicating the use of the Integrated Urban Water Management (IUWM) model to divert more than 40 million tonnes of untreated wastewater from freshwater streams. In 2019-20, CAF India also piloted greywater management systems in households, constructed toilets and treatment systems in schools, and raised awareness about solid waste management, sanitation practices, and rainwater harvesting.

STORY OF HOPE: Budding Scientists of Uttar Pradesh

Over 15,000 children, over half of whom are girls and - largely first-generation learners belonging to marginalised communities from 19 districts of Uttar Pradesh, have been motivated to build scientific attitude and aptitude not only in the classroom but also in their daily life. This has been achieved by building capacities of teachers on STEM pedagogy; setting up libraries and labs in school; providing interactive learning resources; and promoting projects on real-life application of science based on children’s surrounding environment. Children have been given exposure to different state and national level science competitions and science fairs where they exhibit science-based experiments and get platforms to learn and showcase their skills. There is a strong focus on community connect in the programme where awareness sessions on the applications of science are also conducted with parents to help them perceive science as a process and not as a product.
• Solar powered grids for home lighting, street lights, water purification, irrigation and running ICT labs

STORY OF HOPE: WB Village’s Journey from Darkness to Light
Dobisa, a remote village in West Bengal is harnessing energy from the sun to build a sustainable renewable energy-enabled ecosystem. Solar power has been used to provide street lighting, thereby increasing safety of villagers at night. Incomes of craftspersons have increased as they are able to work for longer hours as a result of solar lighting. Farmers, who were previously reliant on rain-fed agriculture have access to solar-powered irrigation facilities. Not only this, solar-power is also being used to purify water and run an ICT centre for children. Solar power has ended this village’s ordeal with darkness.

• School education in STEM subjects
• ICT technologies for schools, youth, women and elderly

STORY OF HOPE: Seeing Ability in Disability
Unemployment amongst disabled adults in India is as high as 70%. With the help of CAF India, 50 young adults in Dehradun with intellectual impairment have been trained on data processing, kitchen craft, housekeeping, artistic endeavours, tailoring, and packing and assembly to enable them to secure jobs, and enable them to be independent so that their family members can be freed of care responsibilities and pursue their own careers. CAF India has also given early treatment and counselled parents of children in the 0 to 6 year age group, helping them to successfully transition to mainstream schools for inclusive education.

• Infant, toddler and caregiver friendly neighbourhoods in cities through suitable infrastructure, services and systems
• Universal access to safe, inclusive and accessible, green and public spaces, in particular for women and children

• Promoting responsible use of natural resources in all programmes, especially water
• Sustainable management and efficient use of natural resources
• Reducing water use in agriculture, the largest consumer of water

STORY OF HOPE: Empowering Maharashtra Farmers through Water Stewardship
Responding to climate change necessitates engaging stakeholders in a transparent and sensitive manner and design interventions that lead to fair and acceptable outcomes for all stakeholders. CAF India is supporting a water stewardship program that trains rural youth to be water stewards or ‘Jal Sevaks’ and builds the capacity of communities in drought prone villages on efficient water use. Our programme has helped build awareness among 1,200 farmers on vermiculture, building water budgeting, and micro-irrigation systems. It has funded improvements to 40 water saving units, harvesting more than 35 million litres of water in Ahmednagar district and Jalna districts of Maharashtra. Securing drinking water availability for all in the villages is a key component of water stewardship plans prepared under the project. The project has been able to bring change in the behavioural practices of people, who have learnt to use water more judiciously.

STORY OF HOPE: A Friendly Neighbourhood for Elephants

CAF India is protecting the endangered Asian elephant and enabling the species’ safe coexistence with neighbouring human communities in Tamil Nadu and Karnataka. A mobile-based alert system has been created to warn people about elephant movement. In the past three years, our funding has helped install mobile-based digital display boards and beacons along 15 high-conflict roads, thus reducing unexpected human-elephant encounters. As a result, there has been a 50 percent reduction in incidents of human fatalities. These lights have been benefiting around 20,000 people living in tea and coffee plantations. Daily text and voice alerts and warning systems with sustained cooperation from local communities have enhanced coexistence between people and elephants. The project has become a model that has been replicated in multiple interface areas of people and elephants.

BUSINESS FOR GOOD

Corporate Do-gooders

Good business means much more than making profits. In the modern world, with increasing income inequality and environmental degradation, it has become imperative for businesses to be socially and environmentally responsible. CAF India has enabled its corporate partners to emerge as socially conscientious and responsible.

For over two decades, CAF India has been implementing effective CSR programmes all over India, from well before 2014 when CSR was made mandatory under the Companies Act. CAF India has addressed multiple socio-economic issues and worked with major global and Indian brands turning their CSR vision into a reality.

The organisation’s corporate partners have lauded CAF India for efficient implementation, grant management, monitoring and evaluation, and reporting of projects. The efficiency and transparency that the CAF India team puts into its work has made the organisation more credible and sought-after in the philanthropy space.

CAF India has been instrumental in providing Symantec employees support with CSR giving programs. CAF India employees are very knowledgeable about the CSR landscape in India and create innovative methods to give back during natural disasters and ongoing corporate strategic initiatives. CAF India has supported Symantec’s grantmaking by providing services such as non-profit due diligence, communications, implementation, and reporting which enables our employees to focus on the impact our corporation is having in the community.

Employee Payroll Giving

Payroll giving (also known as workplace giving) is one of the easiest and most effective ways to make regular donations to charitable causes individuals feel passionately about. CAF India’s payroll giving programme, Give As You Earn (GAYE), currently works with about 13 clients and has been going from strength to strength. The organisation has multiple employee and NGO engagement programmes throughout the year to strengthen payroll giving. These include, regional meetings, volunteering activities, campaigns, social media outreach, corporate-NGO engagement drives and CONNECT workshops for capacity building of NGOs. Analytics and understanding derived from use of our online Give4Good (G4G) platform that facilitates payroll giving and volunteering, are used for strategic directions and course corrections during the year.

Volunteering

Volunteering has now taken a distinctive shape within CAF India’s product portfolio. We saw enthusiastic students from Shri Ram School volunteering under CAF India’s guidance to raise funds for the people affected by cyclone Fani in Odisha. In a matter of a few days the students were able to raise funds by approaching people in malls and other public place in Delhi-NCR. CAF India salutes their spirit!

Additionally, more than 200 volunteering hours were raised for employees of SRF to volunteer in Delhi NCR with NGOs working in education and health.

Individual Giving

CAF India is thankful for the support provided by their individual supporters. Their donations are transforming lives and communities through CAF India’s validated NGO network across India. This has assured individuals (of large and small means) that their donations are being used efficiently and effectively.

In the coming financial year CAF India will organise on-ground activities to raise funds and increase awareness about their individual giving programme. The team is aiming to raise funds from High Net worth Individuals, Indian nationals based abroad, associations and foundations as well.
For the past two decades, CAF India has been supporting philanthropic initiatives of international foundations operating in India. With a thorough understanding of the importance of fiscal management as well as the systems of international foundations, CAF India has helped foundations in identifying NGOs, project design and execution, monitoring and evaluation, financial management, and regulatory compliance. Grants from foundations are managed in an efficient, transparent and accountable manner.

CAF India has partnered with international foundations such as Wheels Global Foundation, Steve Waugh Foundation, Laureus World Sports Awards Limited, Bernard Van Leer Foundation and others to deliver programmes on education, health, energy, livelihood, infrastructure and sustainability to support over 20,000 beneficiaries in Gujarat, West Bengal, Odisha and Maharashtra.

We have an honest confession to make relating to your validation process, and that is that the successive validations over the years that we underwent always helped us to incrementally upgrade not only our processes but our mindset.

In a nutshell, the due diligence that CAF makes our organisation undergo helps in improving our efficiencies and in our capacity building.

Please consider this our true and honest reaction to your last and ongoing validation exercises.

- Arjun Dutta
Calcutta Social Project
NGO Validation

In the year 2019-2020, 247 NGOs were validated by CAF India. Validation (or due diligence) of NGOs is one of the core competencies of CAF India.

The organisation’s validation process has been referred to and sourced by different organisations, including the Planning Commission, as well as many corporate and industry associations, to set up and run their own systems of accreditation. Multiple NGOs have approached CAF India for validations.

CAF India has a demonstrated track record of conducting validation of voluntary organizations for international foundations, trans-national corporations and high net worth individuals. The initiative involves an impartial and robust assessment of credentials, capacity and track record of NGOs. It is a crucial part of our grant making process that helps confirm the credibility and accountability of an NGO.

NGO Assessment

Assessment of NGOs is an important part of the validation process. CAF India has 116 assessors empanelled in different states across India. The assessors visit the office of the NGO that needs to assessed and meet its chief functionaries, managing trustee, program head, head of finance, HR, etc. The objective is to have a deep understanding of how the NGO works; its internal policies; how it ensures transparency and accountability; and the various mechanisms to ensure sustainability etc.

The assessors also visit the project site of the NGO to understand the kind of projects the NGO works on. After completing the visit, they submit us the report in a prescribed reporting format. The assessors have also worked with CAF India for monitoring and evaluation of programs and during humanitarian response.

CAPACITY BUILDING

CONNECT

CAF India strives to make NGOs thrive. Every year, the organisation conducts a series of workshops for NGOs called ‘CONNECT’ – an acronym for Commune Network Nurture Engage Collaborate Transform. The workshops address the challenges faced by NGOs during the programme implementation and give a lowdown of various financial and ever-changing legal aspects, monitoring and evaluation methodologies, communication, reporting and other specialised areas.

CONNECT Workshops in 2019-2020

- Workshops for CAF India grantees
- NGO partners working on Oracle-funded projects
- NGO members of AIFO - a network of NGOs working towards eradicating leprosy and supporting persons with disability
- NGOs working with Tibetan refugees in India, Nepal, and Bhutan. The NGOs are disconnected with mainstream Indian NGOs

Total number of NGOs in CAF India’s network: 5565 NGOs
Additional NGOs registered in CAF India’s NGO portal in 2019/20: 304 NGOs
Number of NGOs validated in 2019/20: 247 NGOs

We are delighted to be a part of CAF listed NGOs. On behalf of Christel House India please accept our appreciation for the excellent job CAF India and your staff have done over the past few months in the due diligence process. It was carried out very professionally and efficiently! We look forward to your continued support.

- Ms. Mini Elias
Christel House India

Working with CAF for over four years has been a delightful & enriching experience. Being in development sector we have often heard foundations speak about “partnership” which was a mere lip-service. CAF has been the only exception. Instead of working from an ivory tower, CAF has been with us at the grassroots level. Consequently, they understand the issues and challenges we face and have always had a suggestion or two to overcome those.

Mr. Rakesh Goswami’s contribution in building capacity of our finance staff has increased our efficiency manifold, reducing time taken to generate a report from few days to few hours. We shall be always indebted to CAF for that.

- Sunil Chavan, Hon. Director
Dr. M L Dhawale Memorial Trust
ORGANISATIONAL DEVELOPMENT

Following its participation in CAF India’s capacity building workshop, Social and Resource Development (SARD), one of the key agencies for Tibet Government in Exile asked CAF India to support them with review and capacity building of their organization. CAF India conducted an assessment of financial and legal compliances, monitoring and evaluation policies, as well as other policies for effective operations.

Besides this, CAF India also conducted an assessment of the training needs of another NGO partner, ASSIST in Andhra Pradesh. This was supported by Godfrey Phillips India.

#Shop4Good NGO Mela

CAF India organised a four-day shopping festival from December 21-24, at Palam Triangle, Gurugram. The festival was an initiative by CAF India to provide a platform to grassroots NGOs working in the deepest and isolated areas of rural India for showcasing and selling their handcrafted products. The mela did not only help these NGOs raise funds, but also enabled them to build linkages with the bulk buyers for future. Through participation these rural artisans and NGOs got vital national level exposure to understand the demand and taste of urban customers. Our objective was to make these NGOs economically sustainable.

The Social and Resource Development Fund (SARD) is the development agency of the Central Tibetan Administration and its mission is to support the development efforts of the Tibetan community in South Asia. We are pleased with the partnership with CAF India, which focuses on strengthening SARD’s organizational development and capacity. The first phase involved an in-depth assessment of SARD’s existing structure and systems. Based on the assessment findings, CAF India developed recommendations and assisted with the drafting of organizational policies around procurement, financial management, human resources and monitoring & evaluation.

Chief Resilience Officer/SARD Director

Supportive Monitoring and Hand-holding of NGOs

In addition to organising formal capacity building programmes, CAF India also supports NGOs to strengthen as organisations. CAF India enhances their abilities to scale up programmes and to deliver existing programmes more effectively through our supportive monitoring and handholding as part of our grant management process.

The Vinoba Sewa Ashram (VSA) – CAF India association was started in the year 2013 with a very small grant project “Support My School”. During this seven-year period, we have been supported by huge grants of different donors namely Coca-Cola, NDTV Dettol, DHFL, KCC, Huawei Telecommunications and HDFC Ergo. We are proud to be a prolonged associated partner and have delivered quality projects with the proper programmatic and financial guidance of the CAF India team. We learn a lot from their Field Monitoring onsite guidance and their financial observations nurture our base to complete all current financial compliances. E-signing of MOUs introduced by CAF India was also new for us, an unprecedented and easily accessible process.

CAF India provides hand holding support to grass root level organizations to work for society with transparency, trust and visibility.

AID TO THE VULNERABLE DURING CRISIS

A ready, responsible, relevant and resourceful humanitarian organization

CAF India aims to strengthen preparedness for Humanitarian Response and prevents disaster related risks to communities, the environment and the economy. Over two decades, CAF India has reached out to 60,000 families in 10 states to provide both immediate relief as well as long-term rehabilitation for communities affected by disasters. We have also responded to crisis situations like the Pulwama attack by launching the ‘Give4Veers’ appeal to support the bereaved families of the soldiers.

The organisation is a core member of the convening group for establishing a START Network hub in India. The START Network attempts to enhance the disaster response capabilities by localization of the efforts through engagement of local actors.

At the end of 2019-20, we began our response to COVID-19 and the subsequent lockdown. CAF India raised an appeal on all its social media and other channels to mobilise resources for vulnerable groups and frontline workers, receiving an overwhelming response from its corporate partners and individual donors.

Humanitarian Response Pool Fund

In 2019-2020, CAF India took an innovative step to further speed up our response to humanitarian disasters. While we raise appeals for funds to donors immediately in the aftermath of disasters, the time taken in fundraising can lead to delays in our ability to provide prompt response on ground. We have created, in agreement with our donors, a Humanitarian Response Pool Fund from grants that our donors have not previously allocated to projects. This would enable swift support to communities while we continue to fundraise in future.

FORGING AND STRENGTHENING PARTNERSHIPS

The world today needs more cooperation as collectively we can solve bigger problems. Partnerships are a crucial piece to induce cooperation. Based on the foundation of trust, partnerships propagate the sharing of resources, information, and solutions which enhance the impact created. CAF India, with its vision to support the culture of giving, thrives on such partnerships. We have been part of several networks and groups. Be it the big agenda of climate change or policy advocacy for NGOs, we have been engaged in creating collaborations and supporting our partners in achieving their goals. Some of such partnerships of this year has been illustrated below.

Networks

- CAF India is part of NITI Aayog’s Working Committee on “Institutionalization of engagement with service delivery organizations (CSOs)”. We are in dialogue to collaborate to promote education projects in NITI Aayog’s 27 aspirational districts and also to promote SDGs.

- Global Compact Network of India (GCNI) has invited Ms Meenakshi Batra, CEO, CAF India, to join the Membership Committee of GCNI. Tapping into individual giving in India

The discourse around philanthropy tends to focus on giving by high net worth individuals (HNIs) or corporates through their Corporate Social Responsibilities (CSR) arms. However, data tells us that neither has seen a significant rise in India in the last few years, and there are few signs to suggest a dramatic change in trends in the near future. Perhaps this is an opportunity to shift focus to smaller ticket size grants by individual citizens or need-led/ordinary. Currently, India ranks 26th among 104 countries in the World Giving index. On average, only 2.4% of India’s 1.3 billion people donated money, helped a stranger, volunteered time, or cried a combination of these three in the month prior to the interview. By comparison, our north-eastern neighbours are ranked much higher than us, with Pakistan at 37, Bangladesh at 34, Nepal at 32, and Sri Lanka at 27.

Daan Utsav: Every Indian Volunteering

My favourite story about ‘giving’ is that of a retired army officer from Bhopal, who used to proudly tell his long-time secretary that he donated Rs 4,000 for NREGA every year to UNICEF, and how he felt good about being a good citizen. Turned out that he had a 12-year-old girl working as a maid for house. Little did he know that putting the girl through school would have been a bigger contribution than he could ever imagine. His creation.
